
Saving Europe – comments on UNZ

Description

End of civilizations display very specific characteristics: moronic relativism, hedonism, absurdity, inability to understand that some rules of the game – or constraints – cannot be changed, and, of course, no children. Looking at Western Europe that behaviour is dominant, so what's there to save?

What is there to save?

A civilization. The greatest civilization the world has yet seen.

How to save it?

- 1) Stop talking and acting like a wimp.
- 2) Boot the globalist treasonite leadership.
- 3) Boot the “refugees” and criminal immigrants, incentivize repatriation of legal and law-abiding immigrants, with large cash grants, certain rights, e.g., to Euro passports but without residency rights.
- 4) Reimpose the traditional values through education, law reform, and legal restrictions on recruitment by non-Christian religious groups.
- 5) Criminalize sex “education”.
- 6) Outlaw abortion.
- 7) Restore meritocracy in education, slash university entrance to 10% or less of school graduates, terminate the PC indoctrination courses in the university, restore academic freedom in the university, slash academic salaries, eliminate corporate control of academic research.
- 8) Restore freedom of speech:

Break up the media monopolies. Institute a one person/company one media outlet policy.

...

Yes, but how do you even get close to implementing such a programme? . . . it looks like most Western Europeans still don't get the gravity of the situation and are unwilling to do anything about it.

Even voting for a patriotic party in the secrecy of a voting booth is apparently too much for them.