

American Collapse?

Description

I've lived in the US for about 12 years and everyone I have ever met hated going to high school, in their young years, as they were bullied there – for being too fat, too small, too tall etc – only one girl I know liked it there (and she was good looking, but dumb).

Children simply copy their parents and their country's foreign policy (based on stupid bullying by dumb psychopaths). At the same time, I don't think I have ever met a brave person in the US of AIPAC – and I think it's because people did not have healthy childhoods where they were able to safely interact, experiment, make mistakes etc – as they do in normal countries. That's why they all seem stuck in high school mentality for their whole lives (famous producers, directors, Hollywood big shots etc. that I have met, all seem like that). Always ready to slavishly submit to whoever is 'popular'...

American collapse is much more severe than we suppose it is. This is probably the best description of US of AIPAC I have ever seen – I agree on every single point as a foreigner who's lived there for more than a decade. And I think DC is the worst, with by far the worst people, biggest cowards and craziest psychopaths (I lived there during Snowden's leaks).
