
The USA Needs a War to Survive

Description

By Lacyon Days:

The USA needs a War to survive, if they can't force in a single world currency (their plan all along) they'll collapse into never-ending debt with never-ending inflation rendering them hopelessly bankrupt.

They've had a plan for well over sixty years that if they can gain full world military dominance they can then introduce/force a single world currency (What this is ALL about) ...The effect as such would see the US overnight become completely debt free (explains the enormous military overspending and explains their willingness to allow China to purchase so many US bonds) and would see them achieve full global military control as well as full global financial control (a very nice achievement many might argue – in other words for those people that don't know). That effectively means 'American Tyranny' and that's no different from Nazi tyranny.

The trick is that the US dollar is the world 'reserve currency' and is currently used by most other countries to purchase their oil/gas/energy etc, meaning that billions if not trillions of dollars are kept by countries for their energy purchasing, which allowed the US to print more and more dollars without showing the true rate of Inflation that would normally arise from such massive currency printing. Now, because so much of the US currency sits in vaults all over the world as a reserve currency in order to purchase countries' energy, it would never find its way into the actual US economy meaning the US could hold their level of Inflation right down from what it really should be.

Here's the huge problem we're now seeing: countries like Russia, China, Iran, lots of Europe and many more now want to sell/buy their energy in different currencies not just the US dollar, meaning that each country who now trades in other currencies, whether it be the Yuan, the Ruble or the Euro will start to dump the dollars they held for energy purchasing and will replace them with the currency they're going to use. The problem for the US is when those billions if not trillions of dollars start to filter back into the US economy (as is now happening) the Inflation now explodes as it can't be hidden anymore. It would see the likes of a loaf of bread skyrocket to over $200 and would bankrupt them United States overnight. This is exactly why we're seeing this attempt to drag Russia into a war because obviously, they didn't believe Russia could become a threat to them again and they can't force a single currency with the likes of Russia and her nuclear threat saying get lost.

They nearly had it done with the collapse of the USSR...What a bonus that was, it meant they could do it without war!!

But they messed that right up because they took their eye off one man – Putin.

The United States REALLY believed they had finished off Russia after the collapse of the USSR to the point Russia could never be a threat to them again, they helped keep Russia in a state of pandemonium through Yeltsin's reign believing they had sealed Russia's fate to the toilet.

When Putin came to power the US could not work him out, but when they invaded Iraq and Putin

(craftily as it bought him time) did not veto them they believed they had Russia under their control and Putin was just a pushover like Yeltsin. (History will see Putin's tactic of not vetoing the Iraq invasion as genius as it really fooled the US and that really damaged their plans).

Because while the US was invading countries all over the world with no one to stop them, Putin was quietly building Russia an extremely effective military defence and upgraded all Russian weaponry to a level able to hold its own if not beat any nation on the planet.

The US blind to this, carried on as they used NATO to murder Gadaffi, as they kept Iraq destabilised by transferring known terrorist commanders into Iraq from Guantanamo Bay in the hundreds to help keep it in chaos.

They then set their sights on Syria, and were preparing for a ground invasion as with Iraq when all of a sudden Putin vetoed that action! That stunned the US, stopped them in their tracks and they then took a close look at Russia again.

When the US understood how they misread Putin they then set out to demonise him in the West and globally the propaganda got so bad it could have been written by a spotty American teenager going through puberty.

But it left the US unable to use ground troops in Syria.

This is when we saw the US and the EU start in Ukraine, we saw the US CIA and their neo-nazi recruited thugs start the marches and protests in Ukraine.

America, if you all remember were all upbeat about Yanukovich winning the Presidency because he had shown an interest in joining the EU, it was only when he decided to go to Russia and ask for a loan, and stated he was trying to work on a closer relationship with Russia, did all this really kick off, then these CIA-led thugs murdered people, started murdering random people at will, they bombed Kiev while claiming Yanukovich was a thief a tyrant and Putin's puppet (yet they said none of this when he showed an interest in the EU, all these accusations only started after he asked Russia for support) they forced Yanukovich to flee to Russia in fear of his life.

They then got the parliament to impeach him/Yanukovich (who were obviously under threat to do so, as the vote came back 300+ to zero).

The West who have caused all the trouble in Ukraine (knowingly and purposely, as Victoria Nuland's phone call revealed to the world) blame Russia and in effect illegally issue sanctions against Russia for something they have not been able to prove or even attempted to prove as in reality it's just a financial tool used many times by the US and its vassals but it shows Russia how far they're prepared to go to force war.

In Syria the US decided to use proxy's in the form of terrorists, they recruited, trained, armed, paid and then sent these terrorists into Syria to murder people, everyday normal people, working people, people just like you or I, they murdered people in the streets, they took over towns and cities through Syria by murder and butchery. I remember seeing them stood on street corners dressed in black standing around burnt out cars with their rifles at their sides, there were bodies of naked raped women and their children just lying murdered on the side of the roads.

They were the Free Syria Army, only at that time nobody knew they were recruited, trained, armed and very well paid by the US, we only found that out after Russia went into Syria three years after.

Yes, that's right, the US is responsible for all the devastation, murder, rape, and terrorism of people just like us, they caused it purposely, and don't forget this was all long before the so-called ISIS crossed over in from Iraq!

This is ALL about America's attempt at global military and financial dominance. And with this insane EU/NATO stance, it seems that if the US collapses then so does the Euro and maybe the Pound.

Things have dramatically changed and changed to such an extent it sees us becoming exactly what we fought two worlds wars to prevent.

That's the bottom line of what we're really facing.

Putin knows all he needs is time, he must avoid getting into a war with the US but never lay down to them. He knows sooner rather than later it's all got to start to collapse, so he'll try to avoid war and let them crumble (After all Russia had to start again, they did not cause a war, they just collapsed) but the US know that's what he's doing, so we see them provoke and provoke Russia, they've non-stop encroached further and further towards Russia's borders using NATO's ridiculous excuse of protecting the Baltic's from Russian aggression.

Putin knows exactly what the US wants and has always known this was coming, everything he's done shows this very clearly. If not for his wisdom the US would have already provoked WW3.

If any of this had happened at any other time In history you can be positive the former USSR would have fired nuclear weapons at the US already, and with every damn right to do so.

We've witnessed Putin three times clearly warn them to stop this nonsense and the US have purposely ignored him every time. Because the US doesn't want compromise, they don't want talks, they don't want peace, they must have war or collapse!

This is the truth no one wants to admit! You only need to remember ... For all Western governments and media to be following the same scripted lies (unprecedented in history) you simply must know the reason is huge! ...It Is!
