

Geriatric pontification?

Description

YeahNO says:

Having escaped the pisshole , last october , all you godless disgraces are currently trapped in , I have recently landed in Serbia .

I can say that it sure is nice to be walking around in white cities ... they are beautiful , clean , women and children and old men playing chess in the parks ... the youth out at night walking hand in hand or with a friend , wandering around the city , sitting near the fountain in the park , laughing – they have a strength and a bond , a down home honesty of expression , and the feeling is palpably different than the wretched isolation I almost constantly felt in those trashhole low trust multicultural wastelands called american cities...

I am still alone , but there is a sense of hope here ... yesterday I chased down a 5'11" voluptuous beauty and asked her out ... I soon noticed she had a ring and backed off , but she walked amicably with me for 10 minutes , inquired about my length of stay and travels , exhibited more femininity in her pinky than 20 of those trashy sluts you share your shit-stained streets with...

And , I just recalled , yesterday morning , as I munched on a komplat lepinja at a little bakery hole in the wall run by two friendly old ladies , one of the lady's daughter and granddaughter showed up . The mother of the daughter was probably early to mid forties , thin , blond , olive skinned and quite pretty . She commented on how the komplats won't make me fat because look at her... I agreed and threw a smile and a funny comment her way... NOW , this woman was married and had a lovely beautiful 7 year old girl in tow , BUT she turned bright red with blush and beautiful shyness at my comment... it was just moving ... when was the last time you saw one of your women blush?

Homogeneity matters if you want more than money out life , like , say , nature and humanness ...

Get out.