

The Vax: Dr. Zalewski Discovers Hatching Parasite Eggs; The PCR Test: Collecting Your DNA

Description

via There Is No Pandemic

Breaking news. A Polish scientist claims that he obtained 5 vials of the PFIZER vaxx. He studied them under the microscope, submitted them to chemical analysis and found that a new aluminum-based life form is hatching from “eggs” in the Pfizer injections.

Stew Peters: “So, this has legs, and tails, and a head, and it moves, and it births, and it comes from an egg. And these are being injected into people.”

Ruby: “According to Dr. Zalewski, this is what he found.

Aluminum-based Parasites

The Stew Peters Show – aluminum-based parasites

Dr. Carrie Madej previously revealed her findings after examining the contents of the Moderna and J&J vials under a microscope. She found a “creature” in more than one vial which her instinct told her was “self-aware”. It had tentacles, and it lifted itself up off the glass of the microscope slide.

Dr. Franc Zalewski has now confirmed the presence of something “alive” in the “Covid” shots, but using Pfizer vials. A “living” entity is hatching, growing, and multiplying when it comes into contact with the right environment: warmth (of the human body) and graphene, that “nourishes the eggs”. The “eggs” might be injected in one shot; the “graphene” in another. See this: Dr. Carrie Madej Took a Look at the Moderna, Pfizer, and J&J Shot Contents Under a Microscope

These “parasites” are a new life form, obviously synthetic, artificial life, in this case based on aluminum.

Aluminum parasites? One-headed, three-tailed, self-aware aluminum-based parasites, to be more exact.

These entities, or “the thing” as the Polish scientist Dr. Franc Zalewski calls them, are made of aluminum, carbon and bromine (a correction has been made by the “Expanding Awareness Relations” web site, they say he means “boron“, not bromine.)

Artificial life? Synthetic life? How is that possible? In fact, the first synthetic life form was created in 2010 by Craig Venter and his team who built the genome of a bacterium from scratch and incorporated it into a cell to make what they call the world’s first synthetic life form, says The Guardian.

“Scientists have created the world’s first synthetic life form in a landmark experiment that paves the way for designer organisms that are built rather than evolved.”

Genetic entrepreneur Craig Venter explains how his team of researchers created a new life form – and what happens next. Video: Science guardian.co.uk

Admin for TINP notes that Dr. Zalewski’s “Thing”, as he calls it, in some of the Pfizer Covid-19 “injection” vials, that “hatches” from “eggs” and moves and grows and somehow reproduces when exposed to warmed-up graphene oxide ... appears to be a further development of the synthetic life form innovated by Craig Venter in 2010.

Which would mean that these “Covid-19” shots containing synthetic aluminum-based parasitic life that lives off human warmth and feeds off injected graphene, were not whipped up at the last minute as an emergency response to an alleged pandemic in 2020.

These injections would appear to contain synthetic life, a phenomenon in development for over a decade.

And since these shots have zero medical or health benefit (they do not confer immunity or prevent transmission of anything and were not designed to do that) there is another agenda going on here that needs explanation.

In this companion post, Dr. Franc Zalewski himself presents his findings.

The “Advocate” Method and Saline

In the video at top, Dr. Jane Ruby reports that Dr. Franc Zalewski obtained 5 vials of the Pfizer injection material, and tested them all.

Two of the 5 vials contained saline solution, basically the stuff you use with your contact lenses, salt water compatible with the human body. Those two vials therefore contained a placebo. So, Pfizer is deliberately including placebos among its shots, the contents of which are therefore not consistent.

Why the placebos?

The inclusion of saline placebo shots among the so-called Covid shots sold to the taxpayers by Pfizer, seems to back up John O’Looney, a UK funeral director. On a previous show with Stew Peters, O’Looney warned that the “Advocate” method was being used to spread these injections.

Looney said that if, on a tray of syringes, there were some that contained the chemicals causing the death and injury associated with the shots, but there also were other syringes with a placebo, i.e. saline, then those who got the placebo believing it was a “Covid-19” “vaccine”, would then preach to others that the vaxx was fine, and others should take it.

We now know that there is saline in two out of the five Pfizer vials obtained by Dr. Franc Zalewski. We therefore have evidence that the “advocate” method is indeed in play.

The plandemic conspirators don’t want to kill or maim everybody all at once, they want some of us to walk away to promote the shot; and come back another day for what will be the “kill shot”.

Those who received the saline in the first round would later be eliminated with the deadly chemical “booster”.

To finish, I’m going to borrow a few quotes from Dr. Franc Zalewski, courtesy of Expanding Awareness Relations. By “CV sample” is meant one or more of the Pfizer vials of so-called “Covid-19” “vaccine” obtained by Dr. Zalewski.

First CV Sample: “And here we can see a hole (because graphite tape used as a surface) I noticed a lot of crystals, but some so “aggressive” that even the graphite melted somewhat. And I thought I found something. Of course I conducted tests and it turned out to be salt; this fluid turned out to be a saline solution. Nothing else inside.

So I continued... So in the first sample there was nothing found, everything dried up, and even the salt couldn't be noticed anymore... so the composition of the fluid varies."

Second CV Sample: "In the second sample I found a lot of crystals. And here we can see the results: They consist of sodium (Na) and chloride (Cl). This is what we call regular cooking salt. So the fluid contains only a saline solution. But I was searching for something else, and as always I have found something. And I found this:

This is what I found: "The Thing".

@1:12 (pic credited to Dr. Franc Zalewski)

Where is my marker? We need to write "that something" down with big and bold letters.

I continued my studies, and conducted tests. What is that thing? It seems to have a head and three legs. I conducted tests, of the head(1) and (2),(3),(4) and those are the results: It's aluminum and carbon ...excuse me, I got my tool."

[Dr Franc Zalewski writes on presentation board]: "THE THING"

"The faint-hearted ones may leave the room.

No, without jokes.

The results of the following tests are: aluminum, bromine [reader corrects this term to mean boron], and carbon. That means that "something" has its legs in different colors. Here we have the test results of that "thing". [holds a demonstration object] This is 1/10th of it. If the head here is 2mm, then the legs/tapes are 25m. The head 2mm, and the tapes 25m. Like that."

@3:00 (pic credited to Dr. Franc Zalewski)

“And I’m thinking: “What kind of being is that?” Is “the thing” something like this creature with claws that kills people? Or something that is shown in “The Matrix” that flies, and has tentacles, and attaches itself to other things?

No.

“That thing” is this here.”

@3:50 (pic credited to Dr. Franc Zalewski)

“Here you have it on the photo. COVID-19 vaccines.

Welcome friends. This is “The Thing” which I tested in those samples.

Yes? Shocked?

“That thing” is being given to people in the vaccines, but in eggs. I was searching for its eggs. And they should have a suitable environment. If the injection is tested on a bare dish, nothing happens, and the eggs couldn't be found. Perhaps they weren't inside the injection, because some of them are pure saline solutions.

But if tested on a graphite tape... That's why there's graphene added inside the vaccines which nourishes the eggs.

And dear vaccinated ladies and gentlemen, you may faint now... Something like that is going to develop inside of you.

And the head is going to have 20 microns [ $\mu$ ], and the length 2.5mm (the tentacles).

This is a life form.

And now you should ask yourself... Too little? Coincidence... Franc just got it?... even a blind squirrel finds an acorn sometimes...

I marked the vials number 1, 2, and 3. Only in the third one was “that thing” inside. And it grew/developed 4 days. Then it is put into a sputtering chamber. There the temperature is high, so that the graphite is sputtered, so the electric arc burns.

Another one! If it was only one... but here we can see another one... We can see the head and legs coming out of it. The scale is 30 microns [ $\mu$ ].

@6:30 & 6:35 (pics credited to Dr. Franc Zalewski)

“The thing” has found fertile ground. And here we have “that thing”, it's smiling at us. Here is the head and here the tentacles. Here is another one, and the colorful tentacles. And it is made of aluminum and carbon. Do we know any aluminum-based lifeforms?

We do now. The majority of people already have it inside of their bodies. The majority that took it voluntarily...

I am very happy that we gathered here and that I could present to you “that thing”.

And again “the thing” inside of another sample. Is this a plant? Dust? “A being” given to people in eggs in a fertile/suitable environment. Somewhere close by there might be some sort of signal which caused that being to start living

. Just as pinecone seeds won't grow unless they will be in a suitable environment on fertile ground, the same "that thing" seems to not be moving. It may be dormant/sleeping.

Who is willing to have "that" inside of you?

Many of you have already chosen and received it... Welcome. I hope it won't be activated.

Let us continue with the next tests and points. Here we have aluminum-based lifeforms. Do we know any aluminum-based lifeforms? I'm asking the smartest representatives of this world. Let them present it... but not in secret.

This is the end of a tentacle/leg. The way it is build, it's not jagged. It is built like that. It ends with a paw... And it is made of aluminum. 100% aluminum. We now have aluminum-based beings which are inside of us. [Dr. Zalewski corrects himself at a later time claiming that the end of the tentacle is carbon-based instead of aluminum-based.]

Here we have 10 microns and this is the leg. The length of this beings' leg is around 2.5mm.

This is only life... but different. Will it be benevolent?

Perhaps we should hang up a poster somewhere here... For everyone to surrender to euthanasia voluntarily?

The criminals of this world... you hear well...

Those are the results of the tests: It is made of carbon. Excuse me, I meant carbon, not aluminum, but the end is made of carbon only. I made a mistake.

This is the brand that is manufacturing this "healing potion" for our happiness and well-being. [shows slide of Pfizer vaccines]. This is from this brand.

And now it's worth to ask, why some people get an injection with only a saline solution, and why some get something else – eggs.

But this is not for me to find out. I'm a seeker of the truth, but not of this world. This world, we have to realize, is almost already lost.

Just look at the statistics. How many people have already taken it.

Yes, we do have a lot of bacteria and viruses which we have to cope with. And we continue to live. But no one was giving them to us artificially. Now, the majority took it voluntarily.

Do you want to have a being like that inside of you? It has pretty colors, one can take care of it... But it hasn't been created to just sit there and to do nothing. It also wants to live and multiply... you need to realize that.

And this is not a hedgehog and also not a sea urchin."

The PCR Swabs are DNA Collectors

Zaluski analyzed the PCR testing swabs – they are DNA collectors he says

Blow-up shot of a PCR swab. @12:38 (pic credited to Dr. Franc Zalewski)

“This is a swab brush for collecting DNA samples. This is a little swab brush for swabbing samples from the mouth, or from the other side like in China. [TINP: He means that in China, the State imposes anal swabs.]

Why is the swab brush built like that? Each ending is melted/sealed. It’s not cut off, it’s melted. I have analyzed the ends, as well as the side walls. Here we have the side wall, and here is the melted end. The swab brush contains titanium, aluminum, and carbon.

You need to realize that this is about collecting DNA. I was on the airport... and as I was walking by there it was officially written: “Central DNA Database”.

And there they are taking samples.

The swab test's purpose is to collect DNA. Why do they need our DNA? I'm inviting you to find out. I'm joking, we won't be taking a break now.

But who is interested in it? To those that are interested in it, I'm happy that you are here today. The room is filled but... There should have been one million of you here today.

But perhaps there? Behind the screen there will be one million of you, who will learn about all this."

END OF TRANSCRIPT

About: "My name is Franc Zalewski, by profession I am a geologist, mineralogist but also an archaeologist, cosmologist, Egyptologist, fascinated by mathematics and by vocation I am a discoverer of truth in Poland and in the world." – Franc Zalewski

TINP will take a guess as to why the PCR is really a DNA collection tool. (We know from its inventor, Kary Mullis, that it is not a diagnostic test.) They need our DNA to compare the alterations over time to see if and how our DNA is changing with the various injections. TINP is going to guess that these artificial aluminum-based life forms being injected into human beings are somehow a means (they hope) will begin the process of transforming human beings (those who survive the shots) into transhumans.
