

Covid Jabs: Confirmed Graphene and Nanotechnology

Description

Undisclosed Ingredients Found in New Zealand

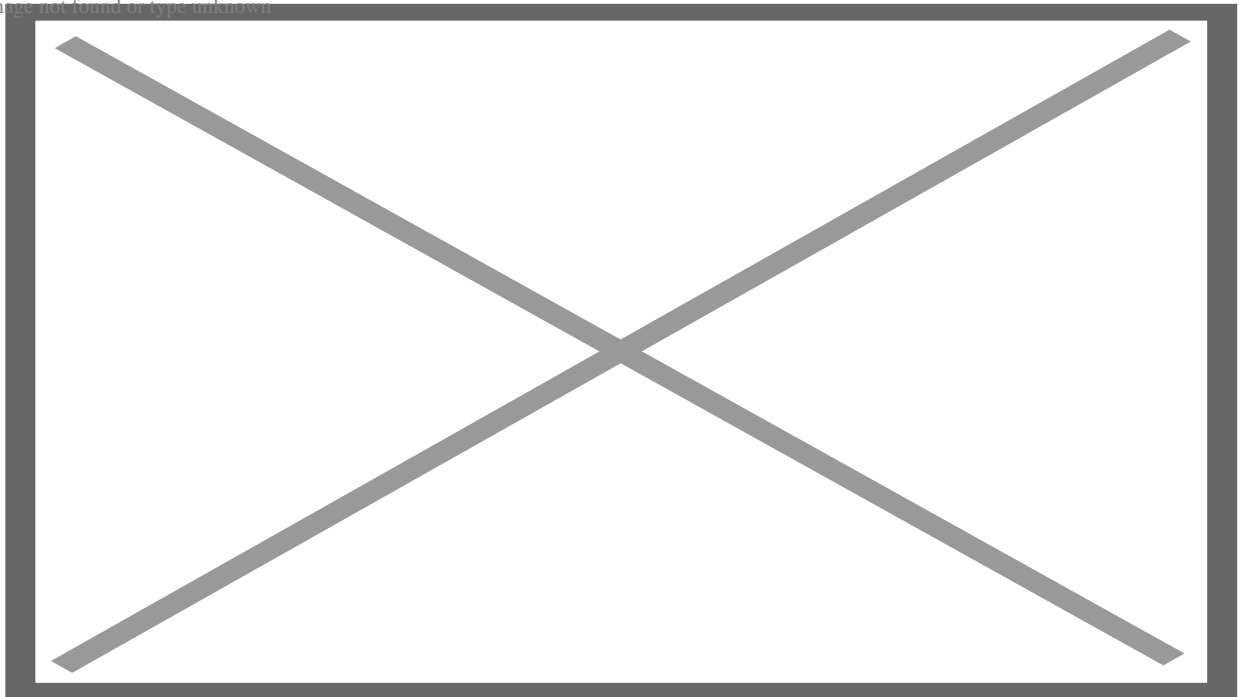

At the end of January, Sue Grey, co-leader of the Outdoors and Freedom Party, and Dr. Matt Shelton from New Zealand Doctors Speaking Out With Science ("NZDSOS") put the Health Select Committee on notice that serious contamination of the Pfizer vaccine has been uncovered and they needed to act immediately to stop the injection campaign.

Dr Shelton came forward to disclose the discovery of formations of nano-particles found by New Zealand scientists using specialised microscopic techniques. None of the experts consulted have ever seen anything like this before. None of these contaminants are listed or approved ingredients, wrote Outdoors and Freedom Party.

After being ignored and dismissed by the Health Select Committee, Sue Grey interviewed Dr. Shelton outside parliament.

My Pandemic Videos: Nanotech found in Pfizer jab by New Zealand Lab, 28 January 2022

(18 mins)

Below is a snapshot of what one New Zealand scientist found. You can read the full account, with additional images and videos, HERE.

The image below was taken from one drop of New Zealand's Pfizer Comirnaty "vaccine" under a cover slip, after it was inadvertently heated lightly, and viewed the same day through dark field microscopy at low magnification, projected onto a TV monitor.

Undisclosed Ingredients Found in The United Kingdom

In December 2021, a British medical practitioner offered to assist in an investigation to ascertain whether the results discovered by Dr. Andreas Noack, a German chemist, and Dr. Pablo Campra, of the University of Almeria in Spain, could be replicated in the UK and also to examine the Covid-19 injection vials for toxins or unexpected contents.

The medical practitioner seized an injection vial from the fridge housed in the surgery where she works and handed it to an independent investigator. A UK laboratory analysed the sample using Raman Spectroscopy and found graphene, SP3 carbon, iron oxide, carbon derivatives and glass shards.

Further samples have since been obtained including vials from the three main manufacturers in the UK: Pfizer, Moderna and AstraZeneca. The initial findings confirm the presence of graphene compounds in all of the injection vials.

The report, which was commissioned by EbMCsquared CIC and prepared and published by UNIT, relates to initial findings and forms a strong case for continued further scientific investigation.

You can read a copy of the document encompassing a case briefing, the UNIT report and a summary of the toxicity of graphene nanoparticles on UK Citizen 2021's website HERE. The 48-page UNIT report, 'Qualitative Evaluation of Inclusions in Moderna, AstraZeneca and Pfizer Covid-19 vaccines', begins on page 12 of the document.

Not On The Beeb, who has been publicising that the "vaccines" have been making people magnetic since May 2021 and is following this developing story, has a petition to request law enforcement to conduct an urgent investigation and analysis of the Covid injections. Sign the petition HERE.

What Is the Aim of The Nanotechnology?

In October 2020 David Knight interviewed Catherine Austin Fitts about the push for a cashless society and transhumanism, how they're connected and what you can do to protect against them.

Austin Fitts believed their plan to microchip the planet would fail because "you're shifting the planet to a slavery model where literally your electromagnetic field has no sovereignty, your intelligence has no sovereignty, your spiritual life has no sovereignty and you have no physical sovereignty," she told Knight.

"If you give them the ability to control your mind and body, what do you think is going to happen?"

"The people who run this system believe in slavery – they practice slavery. And if you give them the technology to implement, and you allow them to do it ... Here's the thing. You're talking about very few people sneaking up on a very big 'herd' and so what we're watching with the 'magic virus' is the on-off, on-off, on-off, trying to get the whole herd into the corral so they will do what you say.

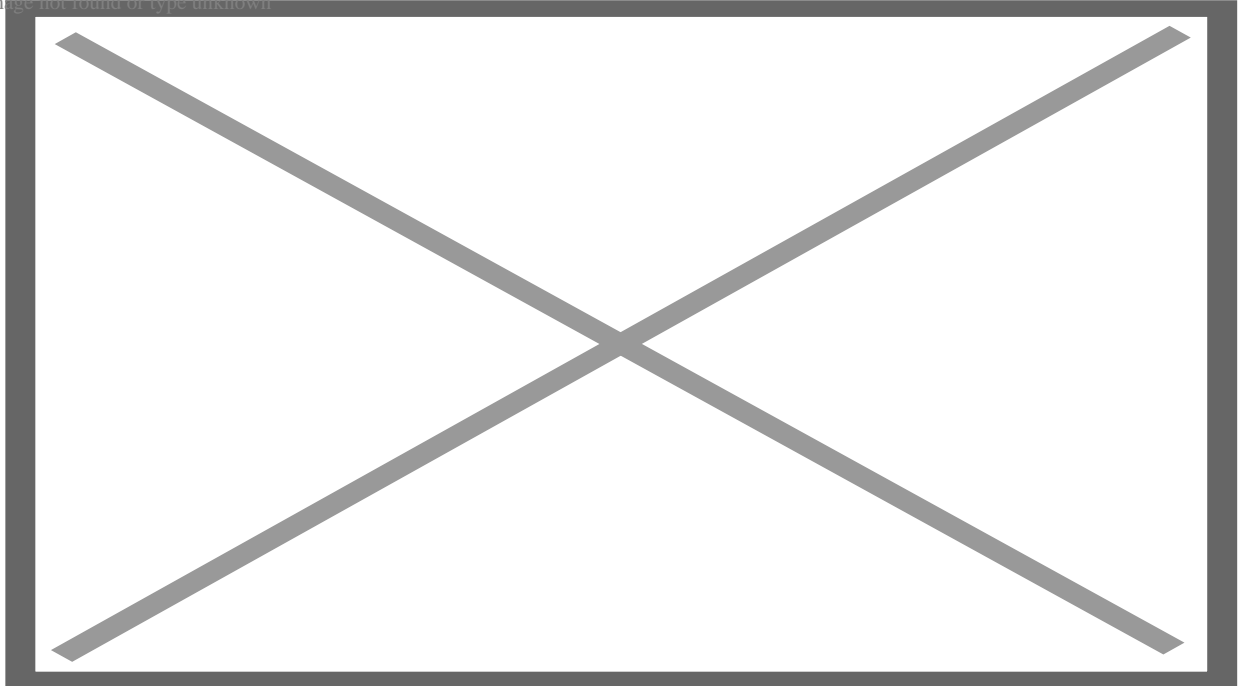

"You're trying to market slavery and the question is how can you make it look attractive, how can you make it look 'cool', how can you make it look fashionable. And how do you make it look like you're still have going to have some kind of freedom when in fact you're not.

"If you can grab the market share and you can hook everybody up to 'the cloud' with AI, which is what this transhumanist model ultimately does, you can get the humans to teach the robots how to do all their jobs. And that's their plan. Ultimately, they want their entire labour force to either be robots or humans who – between mind control and the chip and the cloud and the 5G – are a sort of, you know, high plasma kind of robot.”
