
The US Army's Modus Operandi – Top Secret

Description

Image not found or type unknown

One thing that seems to be missed by some commentators, is that the US military is extremely good at killing people, on or off the battlefield. They suck at nation building, or more likely, use peacekeeping and nation building as a low intensity way to prop up the MIC. Just a note, as some equate the failure in Afghanistan and Iraq to lack of lethality.