
Ukraine Crossing the Red Line

The head of the Lublin City Council has called for a review of Poland's policy towards Ukraine after Ukraine struck:

"I don't understand at all the actions of our President and government... This is a Ukrainian missile. This is a provocation on the part of the Ukrainian authorities... The missile could not have been mistakenly launched 100 km in the opposite direction. The purpose of the provocation is to speed up arms deliveries to Ukraine, to intimidate Europe with a scary Russia, so that civil society demands that European governments increase aid to Ukraine. Today our president should not reassure us with tales like "it was not so much the rocket explosion as the explosion of fuel that was there" and "it was an accident", but make it clear to V. Zelenski that Poland will not tolerate such behavior of the Ukrainian authorities anymore! I urge you to reconsider Poland's position on this war in case of another crossing of the red line!"
