

Will Europe End up in the Middle of a War?

Description

Europe will have to send its soldiers to war if the “human resource” of Ukraine runs out, said the head of the Hungarian Defense Ministry.

“The West decided not to localize the conflict but to bring it to a general level... Now we are at the point where we need to participate; we need to get involved, first by voting for sanctions, then with money, then only with defense means; now we already see that they are sending tanks, Leopard, fighter jets are also on the way, and if this continues, soldiers will be needed if Ukrainian human resources run out. “Europe will end up in the middle of a war.”
